

Summer Sundays at the Colonel Palmer House

Sunday, August.15th

1-4pm

Threading the Needle:
19th Century Needlework

Free Admission

Join us as skilled artisans from local and regional guilds demonstrate their talents in weaving, spinning, quilting, knitting, crocheting, stitching samplers and sewing on the treadle sewing machines of the era.

These talented ladies will be working throughout the historic home showing the details of their craft and answering questions about how it was done.

These skills were once necessary for the maintenance of 19th century households when most products were handmade.

Tours of the home and Palmer family history given by costumed staff, along with displays and craft area for children.
